SARCASTIC COMMENTS

OF THE WEEK:

- I will definitely sleep well this week.
- I am not booked full this week.
- Madeleine's story is not over the limit. (so there is now a new word limit of 300, but I will make exceptions if I like your writings, which I obviously did.)

Beastie Bedtime Story

By Madeleine Yelvington

Once upon a time there was a great beast named Beastie, who lived in the world called Galore, in a country named Kingdomland, and he was a great beast of a dragon. Now this dragon had a fatal flaw: he could not eat bitter things, but only sweet things, and if he ate a bitter thing he would die.

One day, a knight came galloping up to Beastie's cave to fight him and take Beastie's treasure, but unfortunately, the knight who was named Sir Galahad was sweet, which meant that Beastie could eat him, so he did, CHOMP. Sir Galahad was no more. Beastie licked his lips, grinned and said in a deep growly voice "delicious." Gallahad's horse neighed in fright "neighh!" and ran away back to the castle where he came from. Two weeks later, (it had taken this long to get someone to stop being scared of the beast,) someone came galloping over a hill, over dale, though brier, through bush and countryside roads.

It was the famous Sir Lancelot and he was furious because Sir Gallahad had been a friend of his and Beastie had eaten him. "Ahoy, beast of a dragon" shouted Lancelot "come and fight me!" Beastie stuck his large head out of his cave and said nothing but just raised his eyebrows at him. Lancelot shouted again "Come on and fight!!!!!" Beastie shook his head in confusion. He was getting distracted because he was trying to decide whether he was able to eat Lancelot or his horse. Don't you remember that he couldn't eat bitter things? Well, the horse Lancelot was riding on was sweet, but Lancelot himself was bitter, and Beastie kept forgetting which one was sweet. Also Lancelot was still shouting at him and it was hard to concentrate. So Beastie did the only reasonable thing to do, he swallowed Lancelot whole, forgetting that he, not the horse, was bitter. Beastie then, of course, choked and fell down dead.

Two weeks later a beautiful princess came riding on a palanquin, over a hill, over dale, though brier, through bush and countryside roads up to Beastie's old cave. This Princess Gadkari wanted the treasure, so she slipped down and entered the cave and was promptly eaten by Beastie's mother.

Why We Should Not Like, Nor

Trust Gilderoy Lockhart

A poem by Jo Reed

It is really quite plain
when anyone speaks his name,
pure anger pulses through every vein,
you'd do anything to shake that "grin" away ,
and to stop it from ever coming your way.
It's really just true,
that he doesn't care about you,
and he just wants the trust for his fame
and that, that is his one and only aim.
He just wants to reign,
so he toys with your brain.
you think his smile is a ray?
well I think that it is rather gray.
If only you knew,
that he truly makes us feel blue,
and that flame that you think he gives,
is just to keep you "tame",
So that you don't question him,
nor interrogate him
on why he is a nasty-lying-no good at anything fraud.
And, just to throw a bit more
on top of that,
he Erases peoples memories
to keep his accessories.
he Lies to kids,
though we all forbid.
he
Is obsessed with himself,
as well as his mantle-shelf,
though there are much more important things,
like not hiding from what life brings.
he Shys away, when Ginny and others
are at threat,
he is too chicken to even get his feet wet.

So now,
that you know
of the cruel things
he does,
I do hope
that you have changed you mind,
to not follow Gilderoy Lockhart,
and if you use some of the letters of his name
You can get the words;
Loath,
Hate,
Liar,
Die,
Yick,
Now you might say
that you also get good words
like:
Royal;
though he really is just spoiled.
Heart,
the only one he cares about is his own.
Gold,
He just wants to get richer and richer, where there isn't any for others.
and good,
but only to himself.
Now, I hope that you,
my friend,
have learned your lesson on when it is a matter of truth and lies,
You must know whom to trust,
And that will always be one who doesn't put other down to bring themselves up,
and one who truly knows the difference between,
Right and wrong,
and
Always chooses what is right and not what is just easy.
You must trust and believe what you know deep inside who you know is right,
and has the best intentions of the heart.
There is that person,
who doesn't really want to know you,
or care about you, your thoughts, feelings, or ideas.
Then there is that person, who deeply cares about you well being, you interest, they care if you are alright,

if you need just to spill your feelings out and have someone listen.
You must always know who you can trust and confide in
In this world,
And that person should care about you and your life
and not just want you to admire and praise them.
Always choose the people that care about you
To look up to and like.
So, on that list, Gilderoy Lockhart's name shall not be there.

NOW, IT IS RANT TIME!

Each week/edition, I will be taking peoples rants as well as my own and put them in the ranting column that I just created as I hope that you noticed, because if you didn't I recommend you getting glasses. So as I was saying, I will send out a Google Form for people to vote on and the winner will get a prize of some sort. (maybe bragging rights)

RANT ONE:

I am feeling rather annoyed, not entertained, that a certain someone, won't stop pestering me about my newspaper. This was supposed to be fun and I was doing it in my free time, and then a certain someone(hem hem, Ada) kept driving me nuts about writing it (though it was that she liked it so much, she didn't bring it on in the nicest way.) So I had Play and Choir Practice (yes, I made them proper nouns and I was sure that you were all wondering) So, back to my rant, I was frustrated because I couldn't finish it and I had so much that I had to do with my homework to and here was Ada buzzing in my ear, when I was trying my best and I had other things that I had to do in my life that were higher up on my priority list. (God, family life,school, extracurricular activities) that I had to do first, though I do love my newspaper, it is always important to know what is more important, rather than what is fun, because if it were up to me, there would be no homework. Which leads me to my next rant...(and by the way, I did forgive Ada)

RANT TWO:

I am feeling even more annoyed about this other preposterous thing that we call homework. Now, many people hate homework(AKA everyone, even teachers, because they have to grade even more) We/I at least go to school for around seven and a half hours each day, just to go home with about 3 hours of homework to do. So, WHY DO WE HAVE IT?!!! It doesn't even make sense logically. So, whomever made it, we are sending a fully armed battalion to remind them of our love. I hope that one person will continue this rant and then email it to me for my next edition because if I keep going, it will be over 10 pages long.

I ask that everyone fill out the form I am sending out to vote on their favorite rant this week, as well as write theirs on the form, thank you.

RIDDLES:

Brought to you by Miss Maggie McClain

Answers will be put on on Jo's Corner email thingy.

- What has hands but cannot clap?
- What is full of holes but holds water?
- What has to be broken before it can be used?
- What has an eye but can't see?
- What has one head, one foot and four legs?
- What has teeth but cannot bite?

I encourage others, such as whatever human person happens to be reading this right now to submit anything that they would like to Jo's Corner (within reason) and I shall out it in accordingly. (if you were wondering how I was encouraging peoples, well, some(such as myself) could say that I just did.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT...

TOMORROW,

APRIL 16th IS

LUCY'S 12th

BIRTHDAY

PEOPLE!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

In case you didn't know. I hope that you can tell now!

Please note that today is April 16th and I just couldn't get this to everyone yesterday.=

I HOPE YOU ARE PROUD

All of y'all won't believe what I did, what I accomplished, I truly did something great, that was something to be proud of, so I must share it with all of you after I bore you in amazement on how greatly I can describe this great thing that I will also be proud of, for I have done many a great things and deeds of all sorts and more. But in this column, I am focusing on one great thing that I have done most recently, the thing that has allowed me to make this newspaper even longer than before, what has caused me so many weeks delay. (and now Ada will be sorry because I was working so hard to figure it out and as of 1 minute and 37 seconds, I figured it out). Now, shall I tell you what it is that I have done, are y'all observant enough to notice. Now, I seriously doubt that Ada has noticed what I have done, Lucy probably hasn't noticed either, Madeleine, Aveny, and Gemma may have noticed, Evie definitely hasn't noticed. Now, if you haven't noticed, are you ready? You may want to brace yourselves, for what I have done is truly life changing and life saving. It is better than an oasis in the desert. Greater than the cherry on top of the sundae. More valiant than Sir Cadogan on his horse in his painting in Hogwarts. (well that doesn't say a lot, so let's say) More valiant than books on a shelf. (yes that makes perfect sense). Now, I think that it is time that I told you, even though this probably hasn't been that boring to read. Are you ready, I am really going to tell you this time, you have told hold your breath, count backwards from seven and hop 28 times then sing the ABCs (take a video and send it to me for an awesome prize) Now, it is time and I have prepared you with my metaphors. Read closely...

I have figured out how to have my header of the newspaper, only on the first page! Many of you may not understand what this means, but that is your problem. Before I was only able to put it on every other page, so my newspapers were only 2 pages long, but now this one is 5 pages (You would know if you can count) So there is my awesome discovery/accomplishment thingy. This seems like a pretty good rap up to this edition, so Happy Early Easter, if I have time, I will create an Easter Edition. One last thing, if you can, send me videos of you singing happy birthday to Lucy and I will send them to her. (Lucy you can do it for yourself too!)

Happy Birthday to you,

Happy Birthday to you,

Happy Birthday dear Lucy,

Happy Birthday to you.

(you look like a monkey, and you smell like one too!) hee hee
